Waiver: The World of Allegora is a physically challenging sport, full contact activity does takes place in outside and unpredictable weather/terrain. This is a Live Action Role Player activity, and therefore medieval personification and seriousness of the game and its rules are highly enforced. Allegora is based in the medieval era, and so all weapons and garb (when dressed up) must be based in that time period.

As with any outdoor, intense contact sport, the possibility for injury exists. The types and likelihood of injury are similar to those in soccer, football, rugby and lacrosse and, as in those sports, severe injuries can occur.
